Tribune Graphics can produce our badge and transom letters in a wide range of colours, sizes and even font styles.

Club initials on the transom are required when wearing the Club's privileged (Blue) ensign and when using the Club's pontoons either in Cowes or in Hamble. (The reason for the latter is, in particular, to inform the relevant Harbour Masters, not to mention fellow Members, that the yacht on the pontoon is entitled to be there.) On the Cowes pontoon the Club burgee must also be flown, from the masthead. There are no exceptions to this requirement. Yachts not fitted with masthead burgee halyards should fly the burgee on the main halyard at the masthead, using a light messenger line as a downhaul. RIBs and other small craft not having masts should have an appropriate burgee staff, from which to fly the Club burgee. The Club's colours are an important element of the Club's public identity: the burgee should not be treated with contempt, or dangled from spreaders, standing rigging or A-frames.
